The state cap-and-trade Affordable Housing and Sustainable Communities (AHSC) Program provides funding for housing and transportation projects to support infill and compact development that reduce greenhouse gas emissions. In the first two rounds, three projects in the San Diego region received more than $28 million of the $440 million awarded. Approximately $150 million will be available for the third round of the grant program.

Housing developers, local jurisdictions, transit agencies, tribal governments, and other stakeholders interested in this program are encouraged to attend this special workshop, hosted jointly by SANDAG and the San Diego Housing Federation.

At the workshop, California Strategic Growth Council staff will provide an overview of the 2016-2017 AHSC Program Guidelines. Workshop participants will be invited to meet one another to collaborate and strengthen opportunities for successful applications from the San Diego region. An agenda will be posted on the sandag.org and housingsandiego.org websites in early September.
