

Parenting Time Opportunities for Children (PTOC): The Domestic Violence Component

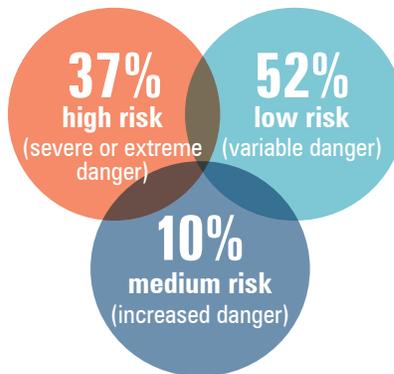

The San Diego County Department of Child Support Services received a grant in 2012 from the Office of Child Support Enforcement (OCSE) to implement Parenting Time Orders for Children (PTOC). PTOC's enhanced services allowed parents to establish parenting time orders in conjunction with child support orders. A key component of PTOC was to identify any risk of domestic violence (DV) among participants and refer those who disclosed DV to services to address the violence and alternative avenues for obtaining parenting time orders. This infographic describes key results from the DV component.

by the numbers

Of the 1,765 cases with a completed danger assessment, 37% were high risk, 10% medium risk, and 52% low risk.

Note: Percentages do not equal 100 due to rounding.

domestic violence training

21 8-hour DV training sessions were provided to SDCDCSS staff between 8/27/2013 and 9/30/2016

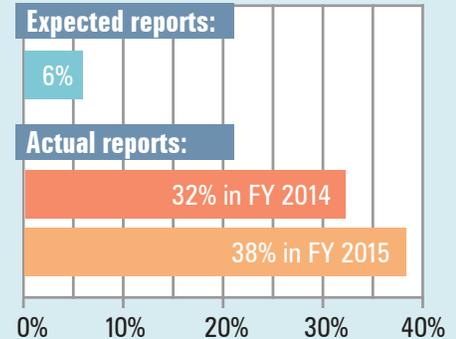

148 staff received DV training

unexpected findings

During the 2-year implementation phase (Sept 2013 to Sept 2015), the program anticipated approximately 6% of cases would involve DV. However, in the project's first Fiscal Year (2013/14), 32% of cases identified some level of DV at screening.

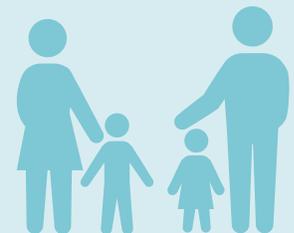

Anticipated prevalence of DV among parents offered PTOC

parenting time services provided

233 couples served, resulting in 307 parenting time orders completed.

Parents identified with high risk of DV were not eligible for parenting time services.

This project was funded by the US Department of Health and Human Services, the Administration for Children and Families, and the Office of Child Support Enforcement. The opinions, findings, and conclusions or recommendations expressed in this publication are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect those of these groups.

About SANDAG

The 18 cities and county government are SANDAG, the San Diego Association of Governments. This public agency serves as the forum for regional decision-making. As part of the PTOC multi-site national evaluation, SANDAG completed the process and impact evaluation to provide valid and reliable information on program implementation and track outcomes.